

Testimonial

Where would you find Ataturk, Florence Nightingale and an English National Team Manager by a coffee machine for discussions on great leaders and motivation? In Motivation Matters' monthly e-newsletter "Perform" of course!

I always enjoy receiving this timely reminder with anecdotes and illustrations, showing that people respond best when we are positive and recognise their skills and achievements. You might think it is obvious! But it takes effort to stay true to the principle when times are difficult and Perform itself acts in a gently motivating way. Anne and Stephen of Motivation Matters really do believe in and live by their principles; their newsletter is a simple extension of their company's core values. Try it and see!
